FIRST PRIZE GLADIOLI

CARMEN SYLVA

GROWN BY

JOHN J. PROUTY

BALDWINVILLE, N. Y.

TO MY PATRONS

Terms are strictly cash in advance. No order entered on the books 'till cash is received.

Bulbs are one and one-quarter inches or more in diameter. Orders are filled in the order in which they are received. The first ones received, obtain the larger bulbs, so if you wish large bulbs, PLACE YOUR ORDER EARLY. Should it occur that all my stock of one and one-quarter inch bulbs of a certain variety becomes exhausted, I will, unless otherwise instructed fill the order for that variety with one inch bulbs, adding enough of the smaller size to more than make up the difference. As a rule the one inch bulbs will give just as large a bloom and flower spike as the larger bulbs but they will not increase so rapidly the first year. Every bulb sent out will give a splendid bloom if properly planted and cared for.

As I give my personal attention to the growing, cultivating, and harvesting of the bulbs I believe every one is true to name, but should it occur that through some unavoidable circumstance any of them should not come true, I will replace them the following year. This is the only responsibility I will assume.

Shipment of bulbs will begin about April 1 or as soon after that date as the weather will permit.

All orders are sent prepaid at the prices named.

PLACE YOUR ORDERS EARLY.

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

These directions apply to Central New York. South of New York State the time for planting can be advanced from one to four weeks, depending on the distance.

Plant any time after the first of May 'till the middle of June. In light or sandy soil plant about four or five inches deep and six or more inches apart. In heavy soil plant about three inches deep. A good garden soil is fine for the best results. If possible, have it well manured the previous season. If obliged to use manure when the bulbs are planted, have it well rotted. Better use a good commercial potato fertilizer than to use fresh manure. Keep the soil a little moist but not wet, while growing. When they begin to bloom let them have plenty of water but be sure and not drown them.

In our section digging begins early in October. They should dry for two or three weeks in the open air if possible, then cut the stalks about an inch from the bulb and store in crates or trays the same as you do potatoes, in a cool cellar. Stir them occasionally in the winter to guard against mould or rot.

ONCE MORE — PLACE YOUR ORDERS EARLY.

CARMEN SYLVA

Again at the New York State Fair held in Syracuse in 1922, Carmen Sylva demonstrated its ability to hold its own as the very best White Gladiolus against the strongest competition known in the history of our State Fair. There were exhibited many beautiful whites but Carmen Sylva stood pre-eminently above all the rest. At the American Gladiolus Society Show held in Kalamazoo last August, no whites were shown that were the superior of Carmen Sylva, although some of them retailed at $1.50 and $2.00 per bulb, while the price of Carmen Sylva is only 50 cents per bulb. As this variety has been on the market only two years the stock is not large and I believe it will be several years before there will be a supply large enough to meet the demand.

Bulbs one and one-quarter inches or more in diameter are 50 cents each or $5.00 per dozen. One inch bulbs 40 cents each or $4.00 per dozen.

GOLD

This is another winner. Reports from different sections of the country indicate that it is truly a wonderful yellow and the demand for bulbs is increasing faster than they can be grown. For this reason there will be no reduction in the price this year. Few of the limited number of growers who have a stock of this variety are willing to part with it at any price.

LE MARECHAL FOCH

This is the Holland variety which has created a furor in Gladiolus circles. In color it is much like America but the bloom is a great deal larger. It is not a tall variety but still tall enough to be satisfactory. Many of the blooms measure six inches in diameter without flattening the petals. It is a very rapid multiplier which accounts for the fact that two years ago the bulbs sold for one dollar each and are now selling for 35 cents each.
